* Drafts: This function allows you to save the current working image to your computer so you can come back to it later. You can then refine your image without losing the work you have done so far. * Enhance: This function is essential for reducing grain and improving color. * Gradient tool: This tool enables you to stretch or resize the color gradient tool across an image. * Liquify: This tool performs a special type of edit called a Liquify tool. You can stretch, squash, and warp certain areas of the image while leaving others unaffected. * Mask: This function is used to protect (or paint out) certain areas of an image. For example, if you wanted to alter the color of a tree to make it stand out more against a landscape, you would use a mask to hide the parts of the tree that have been painted out. * Navigation tools: The tools in the navigation bar enable you to zoom, pan, rotate, and move in four dimensions. * Paint bucket: This tool is used to fill holes in the image with color. You can use various color in Photoshop's color palette to apply colors to the image. * Paintbrush: In addition to filling holes in an image, the Paintbrush tool can be used to change the look of a particular area of an image. You can apply effects such as desaturation or invert the colors to change the look of an image. * Photomerge: This function enables you to combine various photos into one image. For example, if you have several family snapshots you want to combine into a single image, you can use the Photomerge function to do the job. * Photoshop Express: This function, which is part of Adobe Photoshop CS5, provides a powerful web service that is accessible through the Photoshop CS5 interface. It includes a number of useful tools, including Adobe Photoshop's full-screen edition (which isn't enabled in Photoshop for Windows). * Select: This tool is used to define the active selection of an image. You can select one or more individual areas of the image and then manipulate those areas separately. * Selective adjustment: This tool enables you to modify only the particular areas of an image that you want to

Ear carriage by age, sex, season, and geographical location among schoolchildren in southern Guatemala. A cross-sectional survey involving 529 children (aged 5-17 years) was conducted between March and June 2013, to assess ear carriage by age, sex, and season, as well as differences by ecological location (urban vs rural). The carriage rate was 91.6%, and 81.1% were found to carry one or more pathogenic bacteria. Overall, rates increased with age: 5-year olds (79.8%), 8-year olds (87.0%), and 13-year olds (92.8%). The rates for girls were significantly higher than those for boys. Seasonal rates differed significantly, with the highest rates in October and November. The carriage rate increased with distance from the house (seasons and regions). The results of this study, one of the first to assess urban/rural differences in the carriage rates among schoolchildren in Guatemala, suggest that school-based intervention strategies should be implemented to reduce ear carriage.Even seasoned actors and actresses can get caught up in the must-have celeb Instagram posts, but Zainab Jah and her eponymous beauty brand haven't just cut back to retro inspiration - they've gone full-on retro glam, to the point where you could well mistake one of her collections for a NoW cover shoot from the early 2000s. If you're a self-confessed lover of books, you should be doing yourself a favour by joining NetGalley. It's a website that connects the world of writers with avid readers and it's not only free to join but also completely free to read ebooks. More than 50,000 people in the UK have been paid just over £0.83 each each month this year, thanks to the voluntary, needs-based work. It's perhaps the simplest way to get paid to work. Alison Greenspan is almost exactly the woman you picture when you hear the word 'fitness', a thick-shouldered, voluminous and chortling matron who commands the very best corner of the gym. A United States judge has denied a request by President Trump's former personal attorney Michael Cohen to stay a temporary restraining order that would have required his financial records to be turned over to Congress. On the same day, he had given the documents in to congress, even though the request was contested. "Would this mean that

James W. Brougher James W. Brougher, Sr., (December 29, 1890 – May 18, 1978) is an American aerospace engineer who, along with his wife, the artist Marcia Brougher, was a pioneer in the development of autogyro design. Biography Born in Phoenix, Arizona, James William Brougher, Sr. was the son of James Rogers Brougher, a California cabinetmaker and his wife, Thelma Lewis. He grew up in the Sacramento, California, area where he became interested in both birds and airplanes. In 1907 Brougher was sent west to live with his widowed father, who had invested in a booming real estate industry in the Bay Area. Working on various real estate ventures, the elder Brougher was joined in business by his son James, and in 1911 they took part in starting up a new real estate and hotel venture. Following this, the Brougher family joined a business with another California real estate developer and their pilot, John Rollo. In 1917, during World War I, Brougher, Rollo and their friends enlisted in the United States Army. Brougher served as a U.S. Army pilot and was awarded the DFC. Shortly after the war, he married Marcia Fowler, who later became an artist. The couple lived in various locations, including Columbus, Georgia, and San Diego, California. In the early 1930s, Brougher met an engineer from Dayton, Ohio, John Taylor, while Taylor was working with Brougher's father-in-law at his real estate venture in West Sacramento. The two talked about the idea of creating a successful autogyro aircraft, and Taylor began to work on developing that technology. The pair used a wood frame on the bottom of a canoe to test the stability of their design. The first prototype autogyro was completed in May 1935, and the aircraft flew at the 1936 National Air Races in Cleveland, Ohio. Brougher built another autogyro, the Brougher YB, which was used in the first official flight of an autogyro, piloted by Brougher himself. Later life and legacy In September 1938, Brougher, now accompanied by Marcia, left the real estate development business to attend the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA), where he would earn a bachelor's
